BUDGET MESSAGE

Office of the County Judge
TODD LITTLE

The Historic Courthouse ♦ 101 W. Main, Waxahachie, Texas 75165 ♦ (972) 825-5011

August 30, 2019

Members of the Ellis County Commissioners' Court,

It is with great honor and pride that I present the Fiscal Year 2019/2020 Budget to the Commissioners' Court. In accordance with Local Government Code §111.003 - "The County judge, assisted by the County Auditor or County Clerk, shall prepare a budget to cover all proposed expenditures of the County government for the succeeding fiscal year." This document portrays the dedication of the Commissioners' Court, elected officials, department heads, and staff, to every resident that Ellis County serves. I am pleased to present a balanced budget to the court and the citizens of Ellis County.

In a commitment to transparency and open government, this budget is a representation of our County as a whole, with input from many individuals and the governing body of Commissioners' Court. One that is built by and for the people which it serves. It is a policy statement to the goals and objectives of the Ellis County Commissioners' Court.

The Budget in Brief

The FY 2019/2020 Proposed Budget has been presented with the consideration of financial policies adopted by the Commissioners' Court, as well as potential economic development for future County improvements. Precise review and consideration reflects honest stewardship of tax-payer dollars while utilizing limited resources for the highest return on investments.

Tax Rate

We have proposed a rollback tax of $0.363778 per $100 of assessed value, which is a reduction from the preceding fiscal year's rate of $0.370533. The proposed rollback tax rate of $0.363778 is 39% lower than the State average of $0.5937814268, and is the third lowest of neighboring counties. Ellis County continues to remain competitive with lower tax rates and expanding economic value. We are fortunate to be growing at a rapid pace, and are blessed with additional responsibilities and opportunities associated with such growth. The proposed tax rate includes an allocation for up to $2 million for capital improvements. Our goal is to plan for the future while remaining fiscally conservative.

Employee Investment

The proposed budget includes a 1-5% merit increase for all department heads and a 5% salary increase for all other employees. In the past, Ellis County employee compensation has remained below average as compared to similar sized counties across the State of Texas.

A flat rate salary increase for elected officials reflects similar adoptions by City and School District increases across the State of Texas. The elected officials of Ellis County are hardworking and this raise reflects recognition of the work they do on a daily basis. Elected officials are receiving an adjusted salary increase, principally funded by the post-grievance County Judge salary in the amount of $70,000.

Through a series of workshops and analysis, it was determined that a step pay compensation plan was necessary to retain and attract top talent for Ellis County Sheriff's Office. This will ensure that Ellis County residents are served and protected in the manner in which they deserve, while keeping public safety at a high priority.

Economic Development

Business Climate

From the early 1960's, Ellis County's population has grown from 43,000 to 189,000 residents. Settled just south of the DFW Metroplex, the landscape of Ellis County has begun to expand from rural County to a more suburban economy. Over the years, major industries that have been a source of income for residents remain the same. These established industries include: honey processing plants, fiberglass insulation manufacturers, steel fabricators, automobile shipping yards, power generation plants, cement plants, warehousing, and more.

Ellis County continues to improve its perception of value, recently becoming the future home of the only two Google Data centers in Texas. Additionally, aerospace design, engineering, and manufacturing groups Triumph Aerostructures and Bombardier US Aerostructures, are fully operational with facilities totaling a combined area of more than 1.5-million-square-feet and more than 2,000 employees.

A 2019 SmartAdvisor study in the State of Texas ranked Ellis County 9th out of 254 counties for incoming investments. The study conducted its analysis based on the growing number of businesses, gross domestic product growth, building permits, and federal funds received per capita. Within a three year period, Ellis County had a steady business growth of 8.1 percent, as well as $507 million gross domestic product growth. As investments and new businesses come to Ellis County, it is our duty to be a conduit of local development to ensure efficiency and increased quality of life for current and future residents.

Transportation Network

The County comprises 940 square miles of the Texas Blackland Prairie. Two major north-south interstates, I-35E and I-45, run through Ellis County, and east-west traffic is enhanced by State Highway 287. The Texas Department of Transportation highway construction projects are a high priority, as Ellis County is a major conduit for travelers from Dallas to Waco, Austin, and cities further south in Texas. Overall, TXDOT has 106 County projects planned or under construction in the next ten years with an estimated value of $1.2 billion in construction. These projects include but are not limited to:

- A proposed overpass being built on U.S. Highway 287 and Walnut Grove that will begin construction in 2019. The cost of the project is between $24 million.

- Widening of FM 1387 from Midlothian Parkway to FM 664 from its current two lanes to an eventual six lanes.
- The expansion of FM 664 from U.S. 287 to Westmoreland from its current two lanes to an ultimate six lanes.
- Loop 9 proposed to connect I-35 to I-45 to serve the northern portion of Ellis County.

The Transportation Network of Ellis County Includes:

Healthcare Network

With the existence of two prime quality care facilities in Ellis County, the arrival of a third in 2020 will establish a healthcare network across the heart of our County. Residents will now be provided services from Baylor Scott & White - Waxahachie, Ennis Regional Medical Center, and, coming soon, from Methodist Health System: Methodist Midlothian Medical Center. As of 2019, with the approval of Ellis County Commissioners, hospitals in the County are now eligible to join in the Local Provider Participation Fund. This fund was introduced in House Bill 4548, which enables hospitals to receive matching federal funds for uncompensated care.

Higher Education

In 1943, higher education programs were introduced to Ellis County residents. Ellis County is now home to three higher education programs. Navarro Community College maintains campuses in Midlothian and Waxahachie. Southwestern Assemblies of God University is named one of “Niche’s Best” list for Universities in the Country, located in Waxahachie. Ellis County residents are also offered specialized trade education from Texas State Technical College in Red Oak.

Capital Improvements

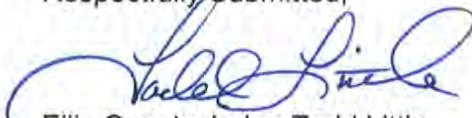

For the FY 2019-2020 Budget, the Commissioners' Court approved $5.1 million dollars for capital improvements and facilities. These resources have been allocated for the rehabilitation of three County capital projects that will better serve the residents of Ellis County. These projects include:

- County Court at Law #3 - This project includes $1.1 million to cover courtroom construction costs and $400,000 for furniture and fixtures. Overall, $1.5 million is estimated for full project completion.
- Justice of the Peace Precinct 2 Facility - This building will host a courtroom, tax office, elections polling location and community room, A&M Agricultural Extension service, and constable's office. The $3.5 million project will include potential relocation, a new building, furniture, and fixtures.
- JJAEP (Juvenile Justice Alternative Education Program) - Ellis County is now required to offer an alternative education program for juveniles entering the justice system. The $250,000 project will include classroom expansions, furniture, computers, and equipment.

The FY 2019-2020 budget is a balanced fiscal plan that promotes efficiency and transparency, and strives to eliminate wasteful government spending. The budget adequately satisfies the priorities of the Commissioners' Court related to current County needs and future progress. The Commissioners' Court continues its commitment to holding every tax-payer in the highest regard. Additionally, this budget includes workforce investments, recognizing the dedication of those that deliver services and programs to our residents.

I would like to extend my appreciation to the Ellis County Commissioners, elected officials, and employees during this current fiscal year. I also want to recognize the County Auditor and staff that worked to make this a successful budget process.

Respectfully Submitted,

Ellis County Judge Todd Little

OVERVIEW

The Statutory duties and responsibilities of county officials in Texas are numerous. County Government's principal focus is on the judicial system, health and social service delivery, law enforcement, and road construction. In Texas, counties have no ordinance-making powers other than those explicitly granted by state law.

Texas has 254 counties with similar organizational features: a governing body (the Commissioner Court) consisting of one member elected at large (the County Judge) and four Commissioners elected by precincts. The County Judge is both presiding officer of the Commissioners Court and judge of the County Court and is named for his or her actual judicial responsibility.

The Commissioners Court serves as both the legislative and executive branch of county government, and has budgetary authority over virtually all county departments, including those headed by other elected officials.

In Texas county governments, there is no hierarchy level for elected county officials, as all elected officials answer directly to the voters. The Commissioners Court authority over county officers, including elected offices, is limited to its authority to approve and disapprove the budgeted funds appropriated for each department's activity.

Elected offices created by the Texas Constitution include County Judge, Commissioners, Constables, County Clerk, District Attorney, Justice of the Peace, Sheriff, Tax Assessor/Collector, and Treasurer. These officers are elected at large with the exception of the Commissioners, Constable and Justice of the Peace, which are elected by individual precincts.

Offices created by legislative act include State District Judge, County Courts at Law, County Auditor, County Purchasing Agent, County Engineer, Community Supervision and Corrections, and Juvenile Probation. The State District Judges and the County Court at Law Judges are elected at large the remaining officials are appointed.

The Citizens of Ellis County, Texas

Honorable District Judges of Ellis County and

Honorable Members of the Ellis County Commissioners Court:

The Annual Budget of Ellis County, Texas, for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 2019 and ending September 30, 2020 is submitted herewith as prescribed by Local Government Code Section 111.001 of the State of Texas. This budget is the result of review and discussion on behalf of the County Judge and Commissioners Court and we are proud to present a balanced budget. The Budget is a result of prudent fiscal financial management on behalf of the Commissioners Court and this sets the foundation for operations in years to come.

Budget

The Annual Budget serves as the foundation for Ellis County's financial planning and control. The County Judge is the Budget Officer per Statue for counties the size of Ellis County. The County Auditor worked with the County Judge and Chief of Staff for the initial preparation of the budget. All departments of the County are required to submit request for appropriation to the Budget Officer. The Budget Officer uses these request as the starting point for developing a proposed budget. The proposed budget and a recommended budget prepared by the Budget Officer is submitted to the Commissioners Court for their consideration. Commissioners Court then holds budget work sessions to hear specific requests that were not included in the Budget Officer's recommended budget. The Court is required to publish specific information notices, and hold public hearings as defined by state statute. Once all these requirements are met, the County may adopt the budget and the tax rate by September 1 or as soon practical, thereafter. The appropriated budget is adopted for each fund annually on the department level. The County's department heads may make transfer of appropriations within a department upon approval of Commissioners Court. Due to conservative budgeting, the county's financial position is poised to remain strong over the near term. The County has generated six successive years of general fund surplus and has no plans to draw down reserves.

Financial Administration

The officials responsible for the financial administration of the County are the County Judge and four County Commissioners (the Commissioners Court), the County Treasurer, the Tax Collector and. the County Auditor who is appointed for a two-year term by the State District Judges having jurisdiction within the County.

The Commissioners Court is the governing body of the County is the elected five-member Commissioners Court in accordance with Article, Paragraph 18 of the Texas

Constitution. It has only powers expressly granted to it by the legislature and powers necessarily implied from such grant. Among other things, it approves the County budget, determines the County tax rate, approves contracts in the name of the County, determines whether a proposition to insure bonds should be submitted to the voters, appoints certain County officials, conducts official business of the County at designated meeting times, and appoints certain individuals to manage various departments. The County Judge is the presiding officer of the Commissioners Court and is elected at large to serve a four-year term. Each Commissioner represents one of the four precincts into which the County is divided and is elected by the voters of his precinct. County Commissioners serve four-year staggered terms, every two years, two are up for election. The County Commissioners are responsible for maintaining road and bridges, personnel and equipment for their precincts.

The Tax Collector is elected for four-year term and responsible for collecting ad valorem taxes, certain State and County fees and other revenues.

The County Treasurer is elected for four-year term and responsible for depositing money received by the County in the depository selected by the Commissioners Court. The Treasurer also serves as the County Investment Officer and confers with the County Auditor regarding investments of county funds. The Treasurer is responsible for Payroll. The Treasurer is also responsible for bank reconciliation and distributing disbursements. The Commissioners Court has adopted an investment policy in compliance with Public Funds Investment Act.

The County Auditor is the chief financial officer of the County and is responsible for substantially all County financial and accounting control functions. The Auditor's responsibilities include accounting, auditing, fraud detection and financial operations and reporting. The Auditor does not have disbursement responsibilities. The County Auditor works with the Treasurer to determine the type, terms and amounts of investments of County funds

As demonstrated by the statements and schedules included in the financial sections of this report, the County continues to meet its responsibility for sound financial management.

Bond Ratings. The County's bond ratings provide evidence of its financial strength. In November 2018, the County received a rating upgrade to "Aa1 by Moody' Investors Service. This indicated excellent investment quality. They also commented that the rating was reflective of the County's strong reserve position, prudent financial practices and moderate debt and pension burden. Fitch reaffirmed the County's AA rating in October 2016. Their rating reflects County's prudent financial management that preserve flexibility and strong economic and revenue growth prospects in the County.

Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR): The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) awarded a Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting to Ellis County, Texas for its comprehensive annual financial report (CAFR) for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2017. This was the twenty second consecutive year that this government has achieved this prestigious award. In order to be awarded a Certificate of Achievement, a government must publish an easily readable and efficiently organized comprehensive annual financial report. This report must satisfy both generally accepted accounting principles and applicable legal requirements. A Certificate of Achievement is valid for a period of one year only. Ellis County submitted its annual CAFR for September 30, 2018 for the Award and plans to submit the award for future years.

RESERVES

Operating Reserves. Another measure of the County's financial strength is the level of its fund balance, or operating reserves. Operating reserves are maintained by organizations to ensure services can be delivered during economic downturns, to address unforeseen expenditures in the case of an emergency or other event, and to take advantage of opportunities that may materialize outside of the budget processes. It is important to maintain operating cash reserves so that service delivery will not be negatively impacted if economy takes a downturn as 86% of the County's revenue is generated by property taxes. It is the policy guidelines adopted by the Commissioners Court to the fund balanced be maintained at 120 days operating expenditures which represents approximately $17,051,166. For the Fiscal year 2018, the County held a balance of $20,160,913 and the Fiscal year 2019 the County held a balance of $24,782,608. The County has continued to exceeded the policy.

Debt Service Reserves. In addition to operating reserves, the County maintains debt services reserves as required by the bond covenants.

ACCOUNTING SYSTEM AND BUDGETARY CONTROL

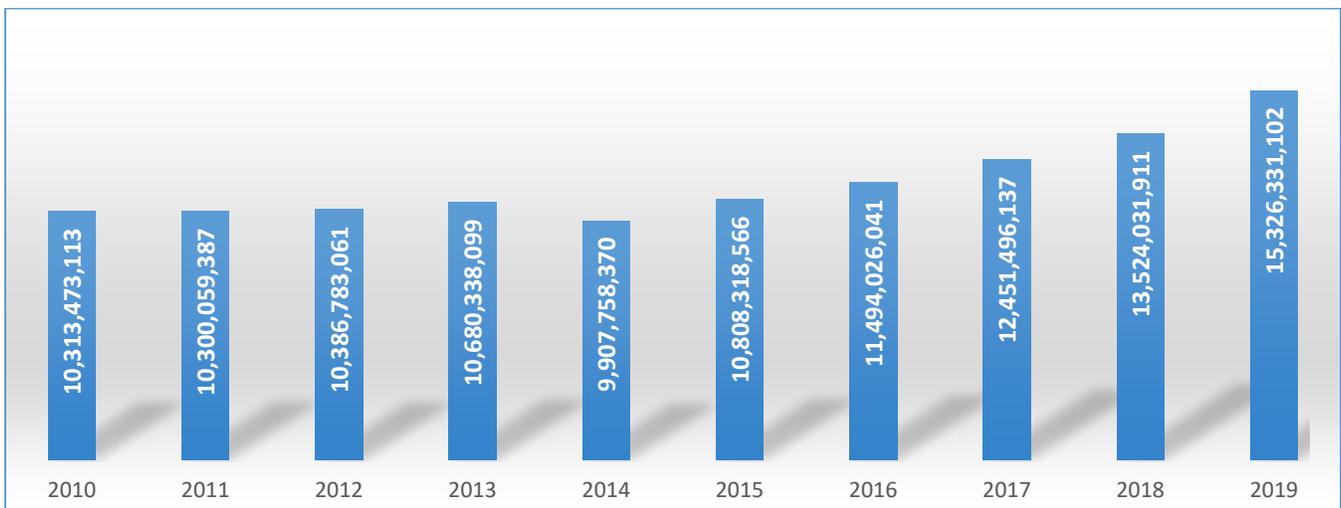

County management is responsible for establishing and maintaining budgetary control. The County utilizes a cash basis budget to monitor all expenditures. The objective of budgetary controls is to ensure compliance with legal provisions contained in the annual budget approved by the Commissioner Court. Activities of the general fund, special revenue funds, capital project and debt service funds are included in the annual budget. The budget is developed and controlled at the department level although appropriations are set at the fund level, and encumbrances are entered at the time a purchase order is issued. Outstanding encumbrance's lapse at fiscal year-end, and the subsequent year's budget must absorb the expenditures when incurred.

FINANCIAL POSITION

County management is overall responsible for the excellent financial position of the County. The County maintains 40 individual funds for which an annual budget is appropriated. Budgetary schedules are provided in the accompanying schedules for each of these funds. Separate fiduciary funds are used to account for resources held for the benefit of parties outside the government. Fiduciary funds are not appropriated because these resources are not available to support the programs of Ellis County.

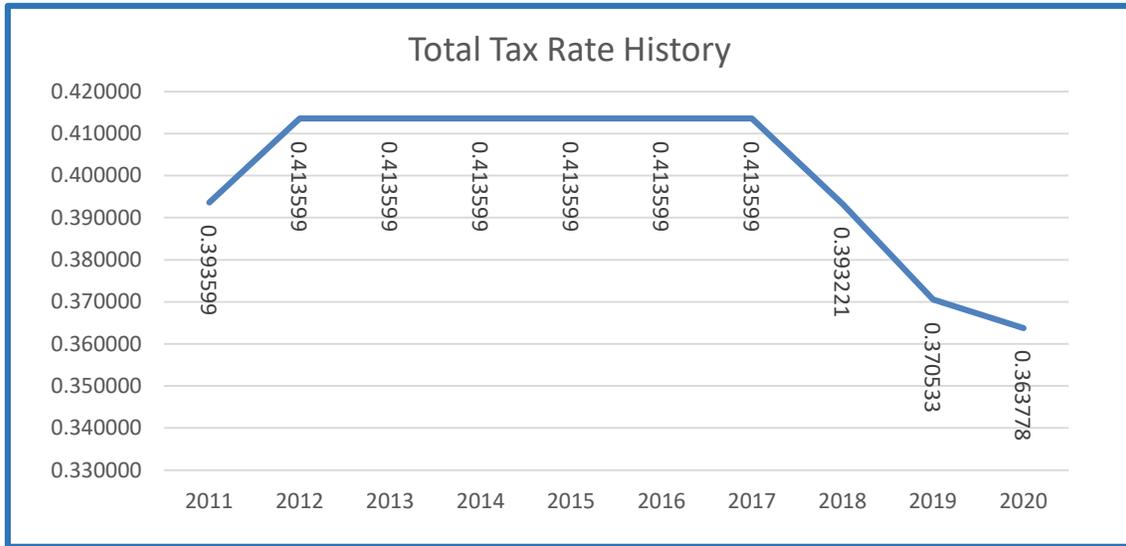

APPRAISED VALUES:

It is the responsibility of the Ellis Central Appraisal District to assign value to the Taxable Assessed Values(TAV) for the County. Estimated Values for 2019-2020 for the County are 15,326,331,102, a 13.3% increase of 2018-2019 values of 13,524,034,911. The chart below illustrates the change in TAV.

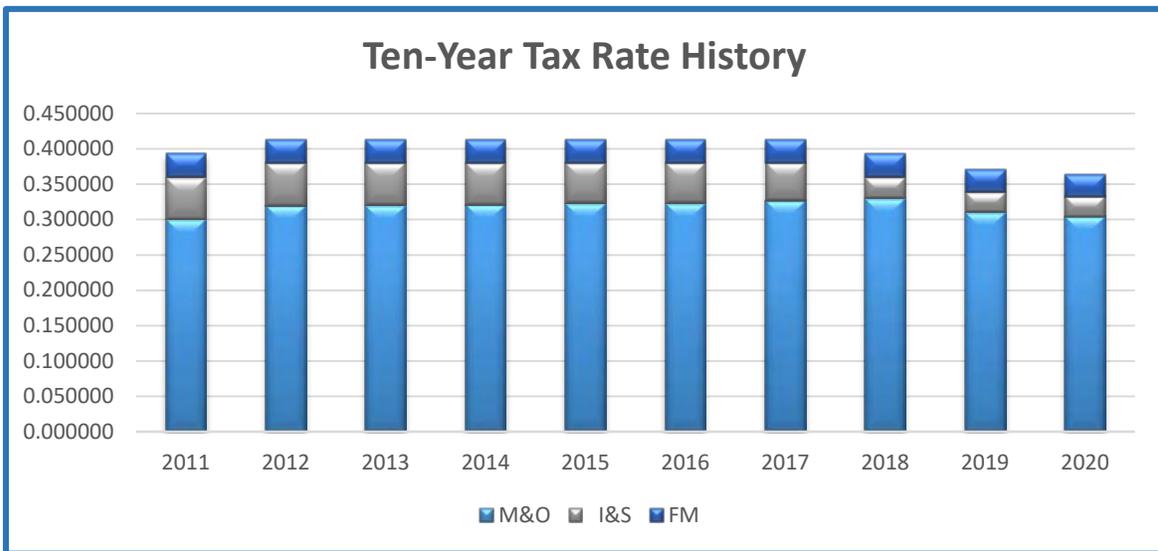

TAX RATES:

The budget was developed on a total tax rate of 0.363778. Ellis County maintained the same tax rate of 0.413599 for 6 years until the prior 3 years in which the County has lowered the rate. The County has continued to provide the same level of service. The following graph represents a 10-year history of the County's total tax rate.

The following graph represents a 10-year history of the County's total tax rate broken out by Maintenance and Operation (M&O), Debt Service (I&S) and Lateral Road (FM).

FY 2018-2019

Long Term Financial Planning

The Ellis County Commissioners Court has passed a policy to set the target level of unassigned General Fund Balance at 120 days of General Fund operating expenditures. When excess Unassigned Fund Balance becomes available, it may be utilized for one-time, non-recurring expenditures such as purchases of real estate or capital assets; however, it cannot be used to justify increased overhead levels of future maintenance and operating costs. The primary mechanisms for keeping the fund balance target level are a) controlling Ellis County expenditures, b) setting proper tax rates or other methods of funding.

If General Fund Unassigned Fund Balance rises above or falls below the target level, then the Ellis County Commissioners Court shall consider remedies during the annual budget process. However, if the change in fund balance is severe, then Commissioners Court may consider implementing remedies at their earliest opportunity. Certain Ellis County financial conditions, economic circumstances or special initiatives may be deemed suitable reasons for temporary non-compliance with this policy statement.

A component of long-term financial planning is debt administration. The county funded a portion of its capital by issuing general obligation bonds and continues to monitor conditions of the borrowing market to be able to issue debt. During the fiscal year, the County made all of its scheduled principal and interest payment timely. The County maintains an "AA" rating from Fitch Ratings and an "Aa1" rating from Moody's Investors Service, Inc. for its general obligation debt. The County issued a $5,100,000 Tax in the Fiscal year 2019 for future capital planning.

Post-Employment benefits is another component of long-term financial planning. The County provides post-employment health benefits to its retirees. The County follows the provisions of Governmental Accounting Standards Board Statement 75 with regard to accounting for post-employment benefits recognizing an actuarially determined portion of that expense annually as it is deemed to be incurred through employee service. Ellis County's has a manageable pension burden based on its participation in the Texas County and District Retirement System, a multiemployer defined benefit agent plan. The county consistently makes the full annual contribution. The County implemented GASB 75 in Fiscal year 2018. The GASB 75 total OPEB liability (TOL) as of December 31, 2017 ($19.1 million) is higher than the GASB 45 accrued liability determined as of September 30, 2015 ($11.5 million) mainly due to 2.25 years of expected liability growth (service cost plus interest cost minus benefit payments over 2.25 years = $3.1 million) and the methodology changes required by GASB 75. The main methodology changes were the required use of the Entry Age Normal actuarial cost method, which increased the TOL by $3.6 million, and the required use of a lower discount rate under GASB 75 (3.31% for GASB 75 vs. 4.25% for GASB 45). The County utilized the service of GRS Consulting, a firm of certified actuarial consultants, to perform the actuarial valuations. Additional information can be found in notes to the financial statements of the comprehensive annual financial report.

ELLIS COUNTY

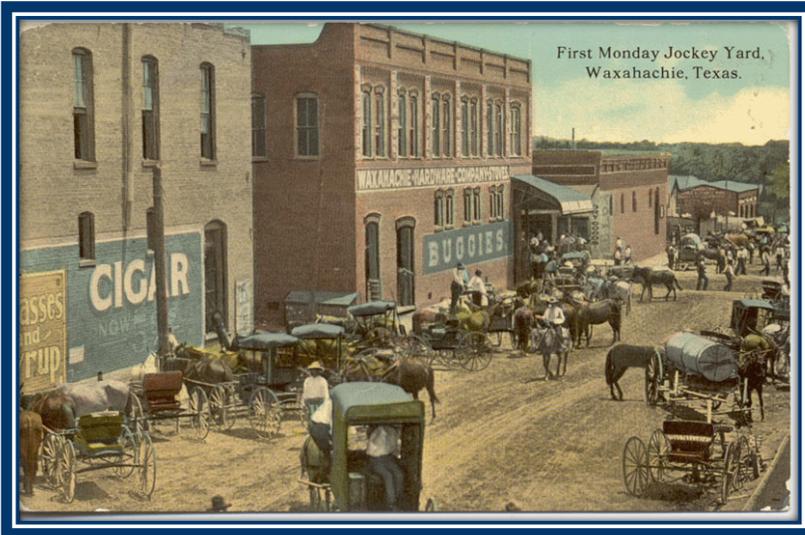

COUNTY PROFILE

HISTORY OF ELLIS COUNTY

ELLIS COUNTY. Ellis County is located in north central Texas. Waxahachie, the largest town and county seat, is on Interstate Highway 35E thirty miles south of Dallas. The county is bounded by Dallas County to the north, Kaufman to the east, Navarro and Hill counties to the south, and Johnson County to the west. The center point of the county is at 32°21' north latitude and 96°48' west longitude. Ellis County comprises 939 square miles of the Blackland Prairie. Away from the streams it is almost treeless except for scattered mesquite, cacti, and shrubs. Native vegetation consists mainly of bunch and short grasses, including Indian, buffalo, grama, big and little bluestems, and three-awn. Such native trees as ash, cottonwood, pecan, hackberry, bois d'arc, oak, and elm grow along watercourses. The terrain is level to rolling, with an elevation ranging from 300 to 700 feet above sea level. The area lies in a southeastward-sloping plain and is well drained by many streams that flow into the Trinity River, which forms the eastern boundary of the county. Red Oak, Waxahachie, Mill, and Chambers creeks drain most of the county. The Austin Escarpment, a high chalk ridge, extends in a northeast-southwest direction and cuts off drainage to the southeast. Mountain Creek flows northeast and drains the northwestern part of the county. The soils—predominantly calcareous, marly and variegated clays and clay loams—have average to good moisture retention and are underlain by a water supply sufficient for livestock, irrigation, and domestic purposes. The alluvial soils are mainly clay. Mineral resources include gas, oil, stone, and clays valuable for brickmaking. Chalk and shale provide material for the manufacture of cement. Temperatures range from an average low of 35° F in January to an average high of 96° in July, rainfall averages slightly less than thirty-six inches a year, and the growing season extends for 245 days.

Tonkawa Indians were the earliest inhabitants of the future county, though parties of Wacos, Bidais, Anadarkos, and Kickapoos often hunted in the area. Spanish missionaries worked with the Tonkawas, and as the American settlers began to move into the region in the middle of the nineteenth century, the Indians offered little organized resistance. By 1859 the Tonkawas had been removed to Oklahoma. Before the Texas Revolution in 1836, the Mexican government granted land in what is now Ellis County to Thomas J. Chambers^{qv}, Rafael Peña, and Alejandro de la Garza. In 1841 and 1842 the Republic of Texas granted land to William S. Peters in the northern half of the county, and Charles Fenton Mercer received a grant in 1843 in the southern part. One of the first settlers in the area was William R. Howe, who settled late in 1843 near the site of present Forrester. Howe immigrated under the Peters colony project and reportedly brought in a black woman thought to be the first slave in the county. The Southerland Mayfield family settled at Reagor Springs in February 1844, and the Billingsly family located near Ovilla later that year.

Acting on a bill sponsored by Gen. Edward H. Tarrant, the state legislature officially established Ellis County on December 20, 1849. It was drawn from Navarro County, organized in February of the following year, and probably named for Richard Ellis, president of the Convention of 1836. Waxahachie was named the county seat and established on land donated by E. W. Rogers in August 1850. William Hawkins was the first chief justice (county judge). Judge Oran Milo Roberts presided over the first term of the Ellis County district court during the fall of 1850. A boundary dispute with Johnson County was temporarily settled during Reconstruction, when Ellis County ceded nearly 100 square miles of land. The argument resurfaced in the late 1880s and was finally peaceably settled by a new survey of the line in 1939.

The early settlers of Ellis County came predominantly from the southern part of the United States, bringing their farming methods and their slaves. During the 1850s the slave population of the county increased more than twelvefold, to 1,104 in 1860, while the white population quadrupled to just more than 4,000. A number of Czechs (Bohemians), Hungarians, and Germans settled in the county during the 1850s. The most profitable business was cattle raising because of the mild climate and the native grasses covering the fertile prairies. The first settlers generally took land along the streams and raised some small grains to use at home or to trade for lumber in East Texas. Small amounts of cotton were raised and transported to Houston or Shreveport by ox teams.

Ellis County found itself deeply embroiled in the secession crisis. Waxahachie citizens formed a chapter of the Knights of the Golden Circle, and in the fall of 1860 rumors of slave insurrections in Waxahachie and in nearby communities led to the lynching of a number of blacks and allegedly antislavery whites. In January 1861 Amzi Bradshaw and T. C. Neel represented Ellis County at the state Secession Convention in Austin. The following month the citizens of the county overwhelmingly supported secession. When William H. Parsons was instructed to raise a cavalry regiment, volunteers from Ellis County formed companies E, F, and H of the Twelfth Texas Cavalry, Parsons's Brigade. When the Nineteenth Regiment of Texas Cavalry was formed, Ellis County men formed companies A and C. The Confederate government operated a powder mill in Waxahachie and a hat factory near the site of present Italy during the Civil War.

White residents deeply resented Reconstruction, which was marked by Union army occupation, emancipation and enfranchisement of blacks, and Republican politicians. Even before the Democratic party regained control of the political machinery of the state in 1874 Ellis County voted Democratic in national elections. The county voted solidly Democratic in all presidential elections from Reconstruction through the 1960s, though in 1948 the votes were too late to be counted. After 1972, when Republican Richard Nixon carried the county over Democrat George McGovern, the area began to trend Republican. Though Democrat Jimmy Carter carried the county in 1976, the area went Republican in every other presidential election from 1972 through 2004. Ellis County grew much in the 1870s. In 1868 J. W. Ferris and W. H. Getzendaner opened a bank that played a vital role in the development of the county's resources. The area began the change from a cattle range to an agricultural region in 1872 with the coming of the Houston and Texas Central Railroad. After the Panic of 1873 the heavy immigration from the Old South cotton areas prepared the country for its future leadership in cotton culture. The population almost tripled, growing from 7,514 in 1870 to 21,294 in 1880. Cotton production increased sixfold by the end of the decade, when it amounted to 18,956 bales. From 1855, when Rev. Michael Dickson organized the first county school at Milford, the residents of Ellis County were interested in education. During the postbellum period, most county schools were considered semiprivate because students paid some tuition in conjunction with a small supplement of state funds. Marvin College in Waxahachie opened in 1870 and made a significant contribution to the growth of the county.

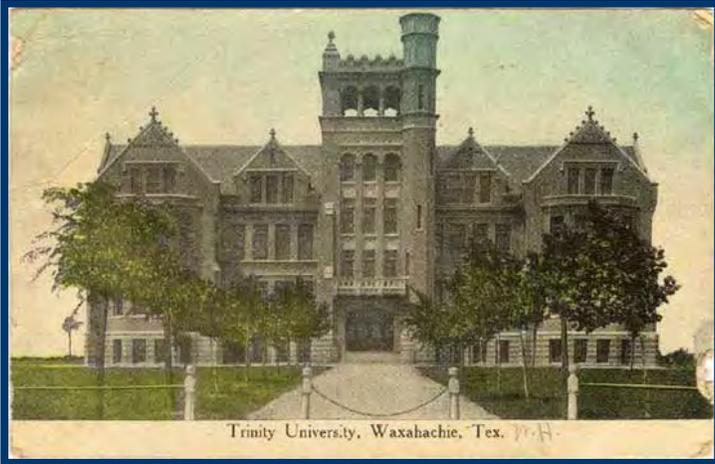

Ellis County continued to be agricultural and rural from 1880 to 1930. The population grew quite rapidly in the closing decades of the nineteenth century, to 50,059 in 1900, and increased more slowly thereafter to 55,700 in 1920. A slow decline set in by 1930, when the population was 53,936. The black population grew more rapidly than the white, as African Americans increased to almost one-fourth of the county population in 1930. The number of farms in the county rose from 2,884 in 1880 to about 6,000 in 1900, and stayed at that level through 1930, when it reached an all-time high of 6,082. By 1900 the average farm included 87.5 acres, down more than thirty acres during the previous two decades. Cotton became the leading money crop as land was fenced with barbed wire, herds were sold or driven farther west, and small grains lost acreage to cotton. Ellis County produced 91,298 bales at the turn of the century and in the early twentieth century was recognized as one of the leading cotton-growing areas in the United States. Agricultural growth did not necessarily bring prosperity to county farmers, however, as the percentage of tenants increased to 70 percent by 1900 and almost 82 percent by 1930. Though Ellis County had better than average transportation facilities for north central Texas, its nonagricultural economy expanded slowly from 1880 to 1930. Seven railroad companies built track in the county before 1910, including the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, the Fort Worth and New Orleans, and the Trinity and Brazos. Two electric railway lines were also built by the Texas Electric Railway Company around the time of World War I. The two earliest roads were stage roads leading from Dallas to Waco and Dallas to Corsicana. By 1892, after some lobbying in the county seat, a substantial number of iron truss bridges were built over Ellis County creeks. Ellis County developed in other ways as well around the turn of the century. Texas Presbyterian College, a school for girls in Milford, served the county before it was consolidated with Austin College in 1929. Trinity University, founded at Tehuacana during Reconstruction, moved to Waxahachie in 1902. In 1887 Ellis County sponsored its first county fair, an event that was held intermittently until World War II. Southwestern Telephone Company introduced telephone service into Waxahachie by 1883. The first efforts to bring electricity to the county started in 1887. Waxahachie Electric Light Company was established in 1890 and provided limited service. In 1913 and 1914 Texas Power and Light Company constructed a high-voltage transmission line, with substations in six Ellis County towns. The county had 203 industrial establishments at the turn of the century, more than at any time before the mid-twentieth century.

The 1930s and 1940s marked the beginning of changes in Ellis County at least as important as those brought on by the Civil War and the coming of the railroad. The Great Depression drastically affected the county. There were more than 2,100 fewer farms in 1940 than in 1930, a trend that continued into the 1980s. In the same period the value of farm property fell 42 percent. Unemployment became a problem. In 1935, 3,054 workers were on government relief in Ellis County. The unemployment rate jumped from 6.9 percent to 16 percent between 1930 and 1940. In the latter year 1,026 workers were employed on public emergency works, and another 1,747 were looking for work. The number of pupils enrolled in the county public schools declined 18 percent during the decade. Farmers began to replace their farm animals with tractors, and the average farm size increased. The cotton crop was reduced by soil erosion and acreage controls. Increasing acreage was used for other crops, particularly small grains. Though World War II ended the depression, the trends begun in 1930 lasted for another forty years. County population fell to 47,753 in 1940 and to a twentieth-century low of 43,395 in 1960. In 1940 Ellis County was 48 percent urban after the decline of its farms in the previous decade. Two years later Trinity University moved from Waxahachie to San Antonio. A Southwestern Assemblies of God school did, however, move into Waxahachie in 1943. By 1950 more than half the county residents lived in urban areas.

As Ellis County suffered an agricultural decline and a population loss from 1930 into the 1960s, other developments indicated recovery. Since many of the area soils were damaged before World War II, soil-conservation districts were established in the 1940s to improve the agricultural output of the county. The automobile revolutionized transportation and necessitated improved roads. Ellis County had only 10,823 motor vehicles registered in 1938. By 1969 the total was 18,493. All major roads in the county were paved by 1948. By 1970 Interstate 45 and Interstate 35E were completed through the county. The Rural Electrification

Administration brought electricity to the rural residences and farms in the county. The Brazos Electric Power Cooperative began its service in 1941. By 1954, 95 percent of the farms in the county had electricity. Educational advances were also evident. In 1950 only 21 percent of those aged twenty-five or older were high school graduates. By 1970 this figure had risen to 41 percent. Oil was discovered in 1953. Maize acreage overtook that of cotton, and ranches took the place of many small farms. Developments in Ellis County during the 1960s and 1970s suggested that the downward trend of the preceding decades was being halted or reversed. The county population began to increase again in the 1960s, reaching 46,638 in 1970, when the number of blacks had declined to 8,593, or some 18 percent of the whole. The population reached a new high of 59,743 in 1980, when black residents constituted 12 percent of the whole and Hispanics had risen to 10 percent. The decrease in the number of farms slowed, while agricultural property value rose to more than $275 million. All types of nonagricultural economic activities made gains. Establishments dealing in oil and gas, contract construction, manufacturing, transportation and public utilities, and wholesale trade more than doubled between 1970 and 1983. The growth of Waxahachie and the increasing development along Interstate 35E suggested a trend toward significant commercial county development. Educational advances continued; a majority of residents twenty-five or older were high school graduates in 1980, and by 2000 more than two-thirds of them were.

Court House Construction:

The first courthouse was a 16 x 18 log cabin completed in 1850 designed and constructed by Joseph N. Whittenberg. The second courthouse was completed in 1854 in Greek revival style by David p. Fearis. The third courthouse was completed in 1875. Each of these courthouses no longer exist.

Ellis County population had grown more than 50% between 1880 and 1894 and the Enterprise reported that this county was reported to be in the heart of the wealthiest and most productive part of Texas. In 1893 The Ellis County Commissioners set about to build the new courthouse. The timing was right since the 1881 Texas State Legislature had authorized bonds for building new courthouses.

The current Ellis County Courthouse was designed in 1895 by J. Riely Gordon, is rich in Romanesque detail. Even though the courthouse was designed by Gordon, he was not directly involved in the construction of the courthouse. A set of Gordon's plans were sold to Ellis County by Otto Kroeger, a building contractor who supervised the courthouse's construction. When the building was completed in 1897, it stood nine stories tall and featured a total of 23,739 feet. The massive quality of the building is enhanced by the exterior surface treatment of the masonry: Pink granite with a rock-faced texture is combined with red sandstone for the window lintel and sill bands. Windows are typically Romanesque in detail with rounded arches and slender proportions. An extensive gray slate roof of steep pitch follows the various undulations around the exterior walls. Projecting from the roof are turrets with conical roofs and dormers with chimney extensions. The copper cornice, turret detailing and a terra cotta frieze below the cornice, further embellish the courthouse. The center of the courthouses cross axial plan is marked by a massive clock tower with four clock faces and a pyramidal roof." The courthouse was restored with funding from the Texas Historic Courthouse Preservation Program. The restoration project addressed deteriorated masonry, noncompliant systems, Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) improvements and inappropriate alterations in the interior. It was rededicated in October 2003. Detail information on the Construction of the Courthouse can be found on Ellis County website.

By 1990 the Ellis County economy showed a balance between varied manufacturing, agribusiness, and commerce. The county population was 85,167. For the first time Hispanic residents formed a higher percentage (13.2) of the county population than blacks (10 percent). More than a third of the county's residents lived in the two largest communities, Waxahachie and Ennis. Many county residents were employed in Dallas, and the growth of such communities as Midlothian, Red Oak, Ferris, and Ovilla demonstrated how county development had become tied to the Dallas-Fort Worth economy. Cultural events in the county included Scarbrough Faire, the National Polka Festival at Ennis, and the Gingerbread Trail homes tour, and the county continued to exhibit an extensive interest in historical preservation. The growth and development of the 1970s and 1980s continued into the early twenty-first century. By 2014 there were 159,317 people living in the county. Waxahachie (population, 31,621), the county's largest city and seat of government, had grown significantly, as had Ennis (18,707), Midlothian (20,183), Glenn Heights (11,782), and Red Oak (11,315). Other towns included Alma (337), Avalon (400), Bardwell (668), and Pecan Hill (628).

In 2002 the county had 2,089 farms and ranches covering 464,039 acres, 59 percent of which were devoted to crops and 15 percent to pasture. That year farmers and ranchers in the area earned $43,436,000; crop sales accounted for $26,952,000 of the total. Cotton, cattle, hay, turf grass, nursery plants, wheat, horses, and sorghum were the chief agricultural products.

In 1989 Ellis County was chosen as the site for the Superconducting Supercollider, a planned fifty-four-mile tunnel in which electrically charged protons would be accelerated for collision experiments. Ellis County residents exulted at the prospect of a burst of prosperity. The Texas National Research Laboratory Commission oversaw the purchase of almost 17,000 acres of land and began to construct facilities west of Waxahachie. But opposition to the project in Congress, resulting from charges that it was "pork" for Texas and from uncertainty about the value to be derived from a supercollider, resulted in the defunding of "Super Clyde" in 1993. At that point some 20 percent of the project had been completed, including fourteen miles of tunnel, a magnet-development complex, the supercollider central facility, and the linear accelerator. At its peak the project had employed some 2,100 people at the Ellis County site. In 2005 the Ellis County government owned the site, and was actively looking for a buyer to develop it.
